

What are the primary benefits of using functions in programming?

Functions are used for modular code and better handling .